A Financial Workshop for Cancer Patients and Survivors

A Powerful Network of Hope...

Cancer is tough: mentally, physically, emotionally and last but not least: financially. Whether it be the lack of insurance, being underinsured, navigating what insurance covers, or organizing finances to adjust to the new burden, this aspect of the disease is a stressful one. That's why ACCA has organized a "Financial Workshop" and has rallied experts in the field of insurance, social work, financial consulting, and many other resources to gather in one room for survivors to ask questions and work through some of these burdens in person at no cost. Bring your insurance papers, questions and concerns and we'll do our best to answer them. Contact 264-1501 to RSVP and for more information.
